

MASSACHUSETTS CHILD PSYCHIATRY ACCESS PROJECT

The Massachusetts Child Psychiatry Access Project (MCPAP) was developed to assist primary care providers in meeting the needs of youths with behavioral health concerns by providing real-time telephone consultation with a child psychiatrist. MCPAP's goal is to help pediatricians and family physicians to effectively meet the needs of youths with common mental health conditions such as ADHD, depression etc.

A child psychiatrist is available via MCPAP to offer assistance with assessment, screening and diagnosis of behavioral health disorders. During that phone conversation, if the psychiatrist determines that the case is complex, then they are able to provide a one-time face to face evaluation with the child. As part of the care coordination services, MCPAP also provides recommendations for treatment and referrals to community resources as well as helps the family schedule appointments as needed.

All MCPAP services for pediatric or family physicians begin with a telephone call to the regional team in your area:
